Zemplínska Šírava / Zemplín Šírava

This lake, built in the 1960s, is frequently referred to as „the Eastern Slovak sea“. But do you know what was there before that period? How had the landscape looked like before it was flooded by Šírava lake? Under the water surface there are the remains of a military field airport. If you concentrate a little bit maybe you might hear the sound of the church bells which according to the legend was situated in the defunct village Blatá...

Senderov, Šikľa

Slight uphill, wide forest road, captivating environment, the whisper of trees... And suddenly you might notice a massive wooden cross which stands at the reconstructed foundation of the ancient church, where there is a magnificent view of the surroundings. Supposedly once there resided monks who founded the local vineyards... Do you know what connects the place with St. Andrew and why the nearby well is called Šikľa?

Vinianske jazero / Vinné lake

Nowadays this place which is embraced by the forests is well-known as Vinné lake. In fact it is a pond which was built in the end of the 19th century at the marshy place by the Earl Sztáray family. Have you ever heard who „had made a mistake“ and made a „relict natural paid lake“ out of the pond? And since when it has been used for recreational purposes? Until recently in the middle of the lake there stood a roofed wooden platform where swimmers could rest...
